Unit 1: Small Moments
Writing Mini-Lessons. I bet we could agree that one of the most rewarding yet most difficult subjects to teach in primary grades is writing. Typically, primary age students love to share about their lives orally, (To the point of wearing down all listening years), but taking those thoughts, feelings, and expressions and turning them into writing is our challenge!

"Students, one way to pick your own just right books is to use the 'I P.I.C.K.' strategy. In a minute those of you who are in a just right book will be walking quietly back to your desk to start reading and remember to jot down important events in your story on your timeline you started yesterday.

Components of a Reading Workshop Mini Active Engagement: This section of the mini-lesson allows students the opportunity to briefly “try out” the strategy you just demonstrated within the safety of the group. All students should be actively engaged by turning and talking to a neighbor or by
